The Jiji Shimpe, a Tokyo paper, has a correspondent in Seoul, Korea, who in a recent letter relates a horrible decision pronounced by a Korean Court. An unmarried woman gave birth to a child, but none of her lovers would ackowledge it; so she had at last to bring the matter to the notice of the magnetrate of Honsong. The latter is said to have decided that the child's blood should be spilt on the ground while the suspected lovers stood round, it being believed that blood thus shed flows towards th father of the child. The result of this modern Solomon's indement is not stated.

> We read (says the Japan Mail) in the Nicht Nichi Shimbun that Messrs. Unnter & Co. of Kobe, have taken the lead in promoting an association to be called the Japan Steamship Company. The capital is stated to be a million yen, and the object of the enterprise is to undertake the carriage of merchandia and passengers between Japan and foreign countries. Our Tokyo contemporary asserts that, according to report, the shares of the company have been fully subscribed by foreigners, and that Mr. Hunter himself will shortly proceed to England to effect the purchase of ships. It is expected that the company will commence operations next spring. We have ourselves heard nothing of this affair and merely reproduce the statements of the Nichi Nichi Shimbun.

> According to the Jiji Shimpo's correspondence rom Seoul, dated the 15th ult., the Korean Government seems to have received a demand from China which must have caused much anxious thought to the King and his Ministers. The correspondent states that when Mr. Boku ei vo was appointed Korean Minister to the United States in 1887, the Chinese Resident Mr. Ynan, did all in his power to compel the Government at Seoul to relinquish the plan of appointing diplomatic representatives in Europe and America. But his remonstrances baving been resolutely rejected by the King. left the Korean capital and went as far Inch hon on his way home, when a reprimand from the Viceroy Li and the mediation of a certain person brought him back to Scor int when Mr. Boku was on the point of departure, the Chinese Government, the correspondent coes on to say, made five propositions to Kores one of which requested that the new Minister on arriving at Washington, should first call on the United States Government through the Chinese Minister. The Korean Minister, how. ever, did not act on the Chinese proposition : he called at the Legation of the Middle King dom only after he had done so at the other Legations. This has caused much irritation to the Chinese Government, and the correspondent states that the Peking authorities lately made demand to the Korean Government that Mr Boku, who has just come home, should be visited with punishment for his disregard of the Chi nese demand. However, he escaped punishment because, in addition to the circumstance that the above mentioned understanding between Korea and China was only oral, his punishment would have led to serious consequences.

The Straits Times gives the following details of a fire on board the P. & O. steamer Venetia: -The steamer Venetia left Singapore for Manritius at daylight on the 25th August, with her bunkers full of Japan coal shipped in Hongkong. After clearing Banka Straits, the port after bunker was found to be on fire. Fire hoses were got ready, and the hands worked out about 30 tons of coal, and, to all appearances, extinguished the fire. All went well until the 5th September, at 7.30 p.m., when the starboard after-bunker was found to be smoking. Hoses were not ready, and the coal turned out as before. At I a.m. on the 6th, a coal-trimmer went down to see if anything had jammed the shoot: the serang called after him to ask if all was clear, and getting no reply jumped down himself with a rope's end. second engineer then called down, and no response was made. Another man was then lowered but called out that he could not breathe, and was hauled up at once. Smoke then began to rise, and water was played down, and, shortly after, an explosion occurred, but no one was injured. All hands were sent below to work the coal cut. About 10.30 am. the same day a sever explosion, occurred in the port afterbunker throwing up a large flame of fire, blowing the perforated shoot cover 15 feet high, and outting a ratline on the main rigging in two. Orders were then given to flood the bunkers. At 11.4 e.m. smoke was discovered on the main deck. Hoses were immediately put down, and the fire showed itself before the water was turned but was soon checked. Some kerosine had been shipped as cargo and stowed in every care was taken that went on board with any sign of leaking, the high sea during the voyage must have started some tins, and oil was running along the gutterways. Had this not been closely watched there would have been no chance of saving the ship. ... IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION. Before Mr. A. G. Wise, Acting Pulbni JUDGE.

BRANDT v. SAMUEL.

His Lordship in giving judgment in this sui said this was a claim for $75 alleged to ha the afterpart of the main deck. Although been illegally retained by the defendant. the 30th September last defendant's firm had pay the plaintiff certain money for share tran sactions. That sum was paid, only with this difference, that defendant deducted $75 as brokerage on other transactions and that was the subject matter of this suit. It appeared that at various times plaintiff instructed the defendant to sall forward for him fifty Dock shares, fifty Land Investment shares, and twenty-five Sugar shares. The defendant stated in reference the Sugars that plaintiff came to him and stated that he had closed the transaction direct with the purchaser, and he had got $121 brokerage from the purchaser which in ordinary circumstances would have to be paid to the broker.

This was denied by the plaintiff and seem to be rather an improbable thing. face of this denial his Lordship did not thin defendant was entitled to retain the $124 That reduced the claim to $624 and that sum the plaintiff said should not have been retained y the defendant as the nurchases had either absconded or had not taken up the shares. It orward sales, the plaintiff contended that the roker was not entitled to brokerage until the whole transaction was settled and money paid over. In support of that he quoted a case which was tried in that Court in the begin case his Lordship did not think it seemed analarous. It related to the sale of arms of the Chinese. After looking up the authorities on the subject he had come to the conclusion that in forward sales like these, as soon as the broker had brought the parties together, the names signed, he was entitled to his brokerage there of his purchaser. He thought, therefore that

Advices by the steamer Wainui aunounce the death of the Queen of the Tonga Islands. The spouse of the dead Tongan Queen is no other than Charles F. Banks, who was treasure cierk at Wells, Fargo & Co.'s, in San Francisco up to about three years ago. He embezzled a vast amount of the mon v that came into his charge. The exact amount of his defalcations was never made public, but the express company admitted that it was not far from $60,000. He saved little of his plunder, however, for he lived the life of an Oriental prince with his various mistresses in this city, and squandered about all of his stealings. When he found that he could not much longer conceal his thievery he asked for a short vacation. About a week after he was gone his crime was-discovered and an attempt which he said he would spend his vacation. He had never been there and was not heard of until the captain of a sailing vessel saw and recognized him at Tahiti. From Tahiti he went to the Tonga Islands, where he became Prince Consort. LONDON, 18th September. MR. CHAMBERLAIN AND THE GLADSTONIANS .Mr. Chamberlain, in his speech at Hudders field last evening, made a point which has at tracted some uttention by asking the Gladsto nians to make a plain statement of their genera policy. He pointed out that even if the Li perals should win at the next General Election five or six years must elapse before their ideas of Home Rule could be brought into practice with his autobiography completed up to the pre- operation, meanwhile what was to be their in ternal and foreign policy outside of the Iris! question? He intimated that in their rage for Home Rule, the L berals were drifting into alliances with Radicals, Socialists, and all-sort into type and three proofs only are taken, one of people whose claims upon the party in the event of success would be a menace to the order! and safe conservative progress of the country Before appealing to the British public for a re-Bessie Belwood, the music hall singer, who turn to power, the Liberals should define more earned more fame by thrashing a cabman in satisfactorily than they had hitherto done, what

A reporter for the Commercial Avertises having asked ex-President Cleveland for hi opinion on the action of several recent Demo cratic State Conventions in approving the tari reform plank of the last National Domocratic Convention, Mr. Cleveland expressed himself as much pleased with these evidences that the attitude of the Democratic Party on this question was still courageous, consistent, and aggressive. He thought that the careful examination of the tariff question by the people was bearing good. fruit, and that all indications pointed to the triumph of the Democratic Party's view of the subject. He added: "If among those counted as Democrats there are found timid souls not well grounded in the faith, who long for the flesh pots of vacilliating shifts and evasions, the answer to their fears should be that party honesty is party expediency."

A PROCLAIMED MEETING IN IRELAND. LONDON, 19th September. The little town of Dunganson, in the county Tyrone, Ireland, is to-night in a prefect frenzy of excitement over a political controversy. A week ago a number of English Liberals, who are travelling through Ireland with a view of studying the Home Rule question on its native soil, interested themselves to organise in Dungannon a public meeting in the interests of Home Rule, the date of which was fixed for tonight. For nearly the whole week the fact that such a meeting was to be held was well known to everybody in the county Tyrone, and not a single word of objection came from the police authorities. To night however, the Market was made to catch him at the interior town at square, where the meeting was to have been held, is filled with armed police and placards are posted proclaiming the meeting. This action of the authorities excites the most intense indignation among those in sympathy with the object of the meeting, and a deputation of the Englishmen who were chiefly instrumental in organising it called upon the magistrate this evening to protest against this attack upon the right of free speech. They were told that the meeting had been proclaimed because it seemed certain that If it was permitted, bloodshed would result, as the Orangemen proposed to organise a counter meeting only a stone's throw away in case the Home Ruler's assembled. Dungannon to-night is divided into two hostile camps. Catholics and Orangemen, taking every opportunity to huri defiance at one another. Up to this time no more serious consequences are reported than a few broken heads, the results of isolated disturbances, but as the feeling runs pretty high and the police are nearly all concentrated on the scene of the proclaimed meeting, news from that

"It is place very simple," said the Judge, bring-'What!" said Mickiel Bunlocks. "Greebs. you do not know this man this Jeson?" Greeks hesitated a moment, and glanced at the Legmann. "You don't know him?" repeated Michael Sunlocks. She was sorely tempted, and she fell. "For my busband's sake," she thought, and then with a prayer for partion she lifted her head and said falteringly, "No, no why, no of course not." Michael Sunlocks was satisfied. "Why no. of course not." he echood, laughing a little, and then he dipped his quill in the ink horn. But I beseech you again, do not bring that man back," she cried.

There was a painful pause, and to cover it the Laginann said, "Your husband is a brave-hearted up to it, opened the iron door, and thrust the man, who does not know the name of fear." And then Michael Sunlucks said, "I will as your pardon, Lagmann, while I step into the next room with my wife. I have something to tell her. Come, Greebs, come. I'll leave the document with you for the present, Lagmann, he added over his shoulder as he passed out Greebs walked beside him with downcast eyes, like a guilty thing condemned.
